WEDDING

HUNT - MURRAY

St. James Presbyterian Church, Winnipeg was the scene of a double ring ceremony Tuesday evening, Sept. 19th, at 8 o'clock when A. W. J. Patricia Marian Murray, R. C. A. F. Ottawa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Murray, 376 Linwood Street, was united in marriage to Cpl. Harold Wilson Hunt, R. C. O. C. of Ottawa, son of Rev. and Mrs. Stanley Hunt, of Strathmore, Alberta. Rev. Stanley Hunt, the bridegroom's father, performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. E. F. Dutcher.

Mrs. George Bradley presided at the organ, and during the signing of the register, Mrs. Digby Wheeler sang "Because".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor-length gown of white sheer over satin, fashioned with a full skirt gathered to a fitted satin bodice. The bodice was marked with a Peter Pan collar of embroidered satin and the sleeves were bracketed length. Her veil was finger-tip length and was held in place by a halo of tiny white satin flowers. She carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill deep red roses.

Miss Margaret Murray, sister of the bride, was maid of honour. She wore a gown of turquoise sheer styled with a square neckline and short puffed sleeves. A matching chapel veil was caught at either side with flowers and she carried a colonial bouquet.

Miss Gwendolyn Hunt, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Corinne Roberts were bridesmaids. Miss Hunt wore a gown of pink frosted organza, the bodice topped with a bolero jacket made with puffed sleeves. Her chapel veil of matching color was caught with flowers at the side and her bouquet was colonial. Miss Roberts gown was of pale mauve over satin, the bodice topped with a little jacket. She wore a matching chapel veil and carried a colonial bouquet.

Little Myrna Campbell was flower girl. She wore a floor-length gown of yellow tulle with a bodice edged with lace. She wore a headpiece of white and yellow flowers and carried a colonial bouquet.

Cpl. Alan Silcox, R.C.A.F. was best man and the ushers were LAC Tom Murray, of Seaside, N. B. Fred Woods and Glen Phinman.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Linwood Street. Cpl. and Mrs. Hunt left for a honeymoon at Banff and on their return will take up their duties at Ottawa.

LIONS CLUB MEETING

At the last meeting on September 21st, fourteen members and 2 visitors were present.

For the first time in their history the big felines provided their own banquet. This was an unqualified success owing to the efforts of Lions Len Hilton, Bud Tench and John Giffen. Another way in which the meeting was unique was that the community singing was positively good.

The programme consisted of an inspiring talk by the Rev. Douglas Ford who chose as his topic "The Church in Europe during Wartime". Mr. Ford painted a picture of great courage on the part of thousands of clerics and laymen who have kept alive the ancient Faith. The speaker made special reference to the magnificent heroism of the Lutheran Clergy of Norway.

The next meeting will be Thursday October 5th.

RECEPTION FOR BRIDAL COUPLE

Rev. and Mrs. Hunt arranged a very delightful reception at their home Saturday afternoon and evening when they held Open House in order to give all an opportunity to meet Harold Hunt and his bride, whose wedding had been solemnized in Winnipeg Tuesday, September 19th.

Beautiful garden flowers adorned the rooms. In the Tea room, streamers of pink and white with a large white wedding bell centred over the table, created a festive air. The lace-covered Ten table was attractively arranged with central bouquet of pink and pale mauve sweet peas flanked by cathedral tapers in deep pink shade.

In the afternoon honors at the Tea urns were shared by Mrs. T. S. Hughes, Mrs. W. E. Julian and Mrs. A. A. Moore with Elva Robison, Frances Gray and Aileen Moss of Drumheller as servitors.

At the reception in the evening those pouring tea were Miss Wilson of Calgary, Miss Giffen of Edmonton, Mrs. Norman Scherer, Mrs. H. Galbraith and Mrs. Alice Polley. Servitors for the evening were Miss Frances Gray and Mrs. S. Mott. Miss Georgia Chapman delighted the guests with her piano solos.

Request to Hunters

Farmers ask that men who come to shoot ducks be careful in their aim and give due consideration to live stock, as there was considerable loss last year from animals found dead from gun shot wounds.

Presentation To Cpl. Bill Weyers

CPL. W. J. WEYERS, R. C. A. F. HONOR GUEST AT COMMUNITY PARTY

About 125 friends gathered in the Dining-room of the Memorial Hall Wednesday night to enjoy a social evening and to express their good will and best wishes to Cpl. W. J. Weyers, R. C. A. F., who leaves shortly for parts unknown.

Several games of Bingo provided merry entertainment and dispersed the strain which is inevitable on such occasions.

Delicious refreshments were served at a long flower-decked table.

Following this Rev. Father Gibbons expressed the special purpose of the gathering, which had been a complete surprise to the honor guest and read the following address.

"We, your friends of Strathmore and the surrounding district, are gathered here this evening in token of the esteem in which you are held in this community. One of our own boys who has grown up in our midst and is well known by us all. You are not only well known, but you have been a great favorite among young and old. You are about to join the large host of boys from our district who have gone over to fight for us. Everyone of your friends hope that we will soon see an end to the struggle and, while we bid you goodbye tonight, we hope we will be welcoming you back in the not too far distant future. We ask you to accept this little gift from your friends, with our best wishes, and we hope that when you are looking at this watch it will remind you of your friends at home who are pulling for you and hoping to have you back in Strathmore. Cpl. Weyers expressed his deep appreciation, briefly but warmly.

"For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" was sung, good-byes said and another evening passed into memory's storehouse.

DOCTOR ON MERCY DASH

Dr. B. W. Banks, Calgary, left the city on a 140-mile automobile and horse dash at noon Wednesday, in an attempt to reach an American hunter in the Clearwater area, who became suddenly ill there, and cannot be moved to hospital.

Dr. Banks drove from the city to Rocky Mountain House, expecting to take his car another 45 miles from there over country trails to a forest rangers' station southwest of the town.

There a pack-horse train was to await him, and he is scheduled to make an all-night, 40-mile ride to the seriously ill hunter.

Summoned by long-distance telephone while he was attending the weekly Lions' Club luncheon meeting the doctor took the necessary equipment for a possible major on-the-spot operation if the American cannot be taken to hospital otherwise.

If he operates there, he expects to remain with his patient until the man can be brought out to hospital.

The Clearwater forest ranger sent out the help call. It was he who decided the American could not be moved to hospital. — The Albertan.

BRITAIN'S HEROES OF ARNHEM EVACUATED

After nine days of terrific fighting the remnant of this Division was withdrawn to the south bank of the river.

How few or how many of the battered and bloody British first airborne division got out was not disclosed. Its wounded had to be left behind to become prisoners. Its living had written a new epic of heroism in the records of British arms.

The first of several convoys of Canadian Army trucks carrying men who have been at the Army's large summer camp at Wainwright, Alta., reached Calgary Wednesday afternoon and the men spent the night at Currie Barracks.

The soldiers have been receiving advanced training at Wainwright during the past few months and with completion of their course are returning to Pacific coast bases.

The convoy which reached Calgary Wednesday is expected to leave Thursday for the long motor-trek back to the coast.

Two other convoys are expected Thursday. — Calgary Albertan.

Ration Book 5

It Covers a Year—

Ration Book 5 to be distributed during the week October 14 to 21 will cover 50 weeks instead of the former 32 owing to the stable picture of the supply situation which has been obtained for the first time since the war began.

An explanatory pamphlet, per family, to be issued simultaneously will provide consumers with a summary of the supply situation in sugar, butter and preserves.

Ration Book 5, similar in size to previous books, will contain 25 coupons on each of its 11 pages as against 16 previously. There are no tea, coffee or meat coupons but seven sheets of spare coupons and a surrender card should take care of any emergency.

Distribution of the new pink-covered ration book is again undertaken by volunteer workers. Every applicant must complete the stub of "K" coupon sheet in ration book 4, filling in name, address and ration book prefix letters and serial number. The "K" coupon sheet must not be detached but the whole book taken to the distributing centre where it will be returned upon issue of the new book.

Dates of distribution in your community during this particular week will be announced later.

THE 'OUT-SIDE'

JOE CITIZEN SAYS—

Some think the war is nearly through some take a quite contrary view. Me, I prefer to wait and see, but with one viewpoint I agree, and that is we must carry on until the need for help is gone. Suppose the fighting all was done the peace would still have to be won and that, if I am seeing right, won't be a job done overnight. No, sir, we won't for many a day from war-time rules get clear away. War's cost has certainly been steep and lasting peace will not come cheap.

So dreams of good times let us quit and to our country's needs submit. Let's lend our money anyhow—that's what we're asked to do right now, and personally, I just plan to lay in every bond I can.

Brief Report of Quebec Conference

By R. A. Gillies and D. R. Wilson representing Canadian Weeklies

In addition to Hon. Winston Churchill and President F. D. Roosevelt and their staffs were: Hon. Anthony Eden, Foreign Secretary; Sir Cedic Stead, Under Secretary of State for War; and Sir Geoffrey Quel, Director General of Manpower, together with Sir Alexander Cadogan, British Permanent Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, assisting in the deliberations.

Naturally there was the odd interlude between sessions for a little relaxation. During one of these Mr. Churchill paid a visit to Sir Eugene Fliset, Lieut-Governor of Quebec, at Spencerwood, where on looking out of the splendor of the St. Lawrence river he pronounced the view as one of the grandest sights in the world. The newly elected Premier, Hon. Duplessis, with his cabinet welcomed him at the Provincial Legislature buildings. On this visit Mr. Churchill

 SWIFT CURRENT SASKATCHEWAN

In all communities of the Dominion, patriotic men and women are now organizing to help put over the Seventh Victory Loan, opening October 23, as announced by Finance Minister Halsey. The people are being asked to subscribe 1,300,000,000— by $100,000,000 greater than any previous Loan and things look rosy in the war now, but it is not over yet. War is eating up more money right now than ever before. Our total requirements, (war and ordinary), will probably reach $6,500,000,000 for the year, just think of that. Our spending nationally, will be more than $500,000,000 a month, more than $100,000,000 a week and more than $15,000,000 a day. Our individual savings must be thrown into the balance which brings our boys and girls home sooner. After all, we're only lending—not giving.

Another reduced rate is announced on overseas mail now, with Airgraphs— "the letters on film that travel by air"— may be sent for just 5 cents to civilians in which the air-graph service operates as well as to members of the Armed Forces. It is interesting to know these letters are flown to Toronto photographed on reels of microfilm— 1,500 messages being contained on a 3.34 ounce reel of film—over 6,800 messages to the pound. Enlarged prints are made overseas after being flown across the briny. If a reel is lost a duplicate can always be made and despatched.

Don't worry. The postal department advises that letters from Canadian prisoners of war in Germany, or in the reverse, may cease to arrive altogether for a time because of cut in German mail connection due to the speedy Allied drive. As soon as certain regions are cleared it will be possible for allied authorities to collect P. O. W. mail from Swiss postal and fly in from there to country of destination. At the moment mail from Canadian prisoners is still arriving but it is mail which reached Lisbon before disruption of German connection with Portugal.

The Agricultural Food Board asks people please to avoid over purchases of milk or any possible waste. Hot weather in Eastern Canada caused a falling off in milk production and an increase in fluid milk consumption and the difficulty is foreseen of meeting Canada's agreement to supply 125, 000,000 pounds of cheese to Britain by March 31st, 1945. It is our duty to help maintain the cheese ration for the British people and the Canadian fighting forces. You are not asked to use milk below required essential value, just don't waste it.

At Cedar Rapids, Iowa, the Department of Agriculture reports that success attended the innovation of square quarts and half pint milk bottles, which increases cold storage space as well as truck loads. Grocers and retailers found they could put 36 quarts on a frig. shelf that held only 25 round bottles.

The steel production of Canada has doubled since the outbreak of war, to a present total of three million tons.

Canadian Churches and The War, a monthly bulletin of 'Wartime Information dealing with the incidence of venereal disease in the August issue takes the stand that the Sal cure is a matter of moral education, quoting this editorial comment from the United Churchman: "The ultimate cure for our shameful record of degenerative diseases, eating like cancer into our national life, lies not in hygienic and economic measures, although these are indispensable, but in the individual and community ideals we choose to live by. No decent civilization is possible without at least some return to Christian ideals of human intercourse and to the moral law. The Ten Commandments are still the basis of a morally decent civilization."

Art and Culture in the National Parks

Canada's national parks have long been famous for their magnificent scenery and other attractions to the vacationist. Although established in the first place mainly as conservation projects they have become of great importance in the Dominion's tourist industry.

The attractions of the parks may soon be extended to include more than material conditions and environment. It is beginning to be realized that they afford an admirable background for those forms of recreation which embrace the cultural and the artistic. Nowhere can better settings be found for artists, either amateur or professional, and theatrical performances in the park settings take on qualities impossible elsewhere. Nowhere can recreation and mental improvement be combined to better advantage.

A successful beginning along these lines has already been made in Banff National Park, Alberta, where the Extension Department of the University of Alberta has, for several years past, been sponsoring a Summer School of Fine Arts. This year the school enrolled some 362 students drawn from many parts of Canada and the United States. Many more would have attended but for conditions arising out of the war.

The students at this school are able to combine study with recreation and pleasure in a most fascinating environment. The course lasts during the month of August and includes classes in sketching, painting, weaving and design, music and choral singing, and oral French. All branches of the theatre—acting, recreation, staging methods, and play-writing—are studied. The majority of the instructors have been recruited either in Canada or the United States and are all prominent in the world of art music and drama. Post-war courses may include modelling and pottery, and perhaps photographic art.

The lead which has been taken in Banff will doubtless be followed in other parks where classes can combine study and recreation amid surroundings that are a dream of every art student. To be able to escape the heat of city and town and the turmoil of huge industrial centres, to practice your studies and favourite pastimes in the shade of towering snow-capped mountains, or by the side of turbulent streams and thundering waterfalls, or in quiet, wooded, lake-studded valleys is a refreshing thought, especially in midsummer.

It has been the pleasant experience of hundreds of fortunate students who have been able to go to Banff each year to study, to play, and to act in this vast mountain amphitheatre, where the scenery is breathtaking and inspiring and where Mother Nature herself provides the almost perfect lighting effects. It may also be possible in the post-war years to have similar schools in other national parks throughout Canada. Such a development, if broadened to include people in all walks of life, would have a profound influence on Canadian citizenship in the years that lie ahead.

The Searchlight

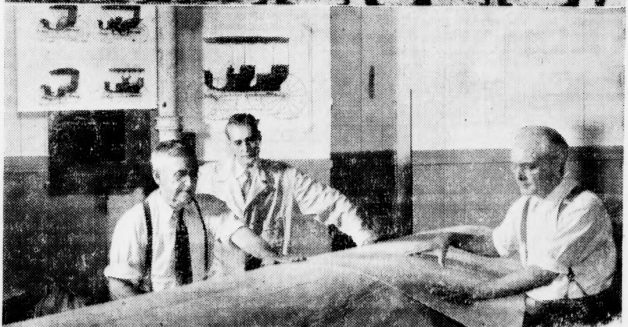

OTTAWA—It is interesting to hear and read these days the apparently authentic reasons for the amazingly swift success of the allied attack in Western Europe. It is pointed out that first among the great factors contributing to this miraculous military achievement was of course the triumph in organization which preceded D-Day which launched myriads of soldiers and hundreds of thousands of vehicles within a few hours on the fortified shores of France where the allies did not then hold a single port of entry. History will describe endless hours of planning of the quarter-master stores and ordinance departments of the allied headquarters as well as the staffs who worked out the plan of attack. The advance in France, Belgium and Holland has been to a great extent a war of supplies. In many cases it is said planes dropped barrels of gasoline to the armoured columns. Undoubtedly the enemy was taken by surprise by the completeness and smooth working of the supply program of the invading armies, and that was the culmination of endless months of preparation. Essential partners in the attack were the air and naval forces which held mastery of their elements. An unintentional but a decidedly important partner in the completeness of the victory up to the territorial boundaries of the Reich was the German's traditional strategy. The Germans have relied on swift and persistent attack, and the reluctance to withdraw in time has cost them whole armies of their best troops. If Russian generals hadn't made masterly retreats across their country to Stalin-grad in the face of overwhelming forces, the story of the war would have been different. In the sector of Falaise in Normandy where the Canadian Army played an important part in the destruction of a German army, the enemy instead of withdrawing while there was still a chance to extricate the forces threw more men in to the pocket. They even stripped their tank on the Mediterranean to bolster their forces in Normandy. Our leaders Eisenhower and Montgomery knew the weakness of German strategy and took full advantage of it. But the war East and West and in the skies over Germany is a unit. The hammer blows of the Russian armies and the smashing of German factories from the air, a job in which our own R. C. A. F. played a great part have been factors which can be appraised only in the pages of future histories.

Two Conferences—
There are two great conferences of allied nations going on now which are putting to a primary test the capacity of nations to co-operate in plans for peace as effectively as they show they can in war. The one at Dumbarton Oaks attended by representatives of the great powers Great Britain, United States and Russia which seeks a formula for collective security appears to be bogged down for a time at least. Outside discussions on the conference which is holding secret sessions have been in the main showing agreement on the principle that the world must rely on the great powers to bring order out of chaos. On their shoulders must rest the main burden. But there is a wide divergence of view on the extent to which national sovereignty can be subordinated to a world council which would have an international force to keep the peace of the world. What the people of all countries want to see is some form of agreement at the conference which can be the basis for discussion in national parliaments and at some general meeting of allied nations. People who have faced the danger of slavery which has been only narrowly averted are determined that the form of collective security shall have the complete support first of all the great nations and secondly at least the support of the majority of the smaller ones and that it will have the power to carry out its decrees. No one wants the great nations to dominate the world, and in the world council smaller nations will be heard, but with the knowledge that Nazi Germany is already likely plotting to renew its bid for world supremacy at some future time and that the robot bomb could be the forerunner of a demonic form of attack of much greater power that could be unleashed with out warning, the world wants to see the powers of aggression securely shackled and its fangs permanently drawn.

Make it a Truly V-Day

EVERYONE will rejoice when the news of Victory Achieved in Europe is broadcast throughout the world; when the Bells ring out and the whistles blow telling in their own way the glad news to waiting, anxious peoples.

There are so many ways in which Victory can be glorified and commorated that it is deplorable that the year is entertained that it may develop into a bigger and wilder New Year's Eve Celebration, and an orgy of noise, destruction to property, and danger to life itself.

To a moderate controlled celebration of Good Cheer we offer no objection, but that the fear of rowdism uncontrolled is entertained, is evidenced by the request from the Hotelmen themselves, that all Hotels be closed for V-Day and the day following. We shall rejoice when the Bells Ring Out the Glad News — but we must not lose sight of the truth there will be many sorrowful and aching hearts.

To them the element of needlessness would be a travesty of the cause for and spirit in which their loved ones made the supreme sacrifice, or who may suffer from wounds or invalidism for their remaining years. Let us remember them!

We commend the request of the Liquor Interests. Planning, keen intelligent planning, is all to the good.

There are so many constructive, beneficial methods of celebration.

Let us make it truly a celebration of Victory, in appreciation of the best in our past history and a plan for future achievement.

The Christian Science Monitor says, "A thoughtful, prayerful observance of V-Day is dictated by consideration for the families of men who have made or are still making every kind of sacrifice to bring this day. It is dictated by the fact that this will be only V-E-Day (Victory in Europe Day) leaving both the war with Japan and the war with war to be won. It is dictated by memories of what happened after 1918 to a victory boisterously celebrated but not consecrated. It is dictated by the nobility of our cause and the necessity to prove that we can conquer animality and ignorance not only in our foes but in ourselves.

Every man and woman can prepare now to make it truly a day of victory.

Strathmore's Opportunity

THERE is a tide in the affairs of men, which taken at its flood, leads on to fortune."

What is true in the individual is equally true in the case of small communities, towns or cities.

Several people are now carrying on work on their farms who with the return of men in the armed forces will want to transfer their property either to their sons or to new purchasers.

These people will be looking for comfortable homes in attractive surroundings.

Strathmore can give the attractive surroundings for the comfort angle, "One thing we lack" and that is all important, so important, in fact that it makes the decision in the negative when it would otherwise be in the affirmative. This important factor is Houses equipped with Water and sewerage.

We have the word of reliable, practical men, that given this advantage, several would choose to make their home in Strathmore, rather than a larger centre.

We have it also on the information of practical men that this water could be supplied at reasonable cost by some form of pressure wells.

Knowing these facts, is it not the climax of short-sighted vision, and lack of progressive action, to refuse longer to establish this modern convenience in our homes?

We have given up the candle and coal oil lamp for electricity.

We have passed up old Dobbin for the motor car.

We have long since passed up the back-breaking hand binding of sheaves, for the binder and the combine, and no one would consider for a moment returning to these antiquated methods.

Let us be as progressive in modernizing our homes.

The Dominion Government is setting aside funds for Post-War projects. Let Strathmore request her share for this improvement.

It can be had — but not by folded hands.

We understand a certain amount is being set aside by the Town Council for this purpose.

The Town Fathers could add to this the contribution from Ottawa, and make this much talked of improvement a reality in the near future.

By so doing they will receive the grateful appreciation of present citizens, and the added boon to our town of increased business through an enlarged stable population of home-makers.

Further it would be an inducement for other industries. Let Strathmore march forward in the spirit of progress. The time is now ripe.

WATER BEFORE FEED

Why should a horse be watered first and fed afterwards? The answer is because of the comparatively small size of the horse's stomach. If grain is given before the horse is watered, the rush of water when the horse drinks washes the grain out of the stomach. This causes colic and indigestion in the digestive tract. Veterinarians point out that the horse has such a small stomach compared with the size of its body that proper feeding is one of the most important factors to bear in mind in the care of work animals.

Out for a drive in her pony cart an elderly lady managed to get involved in some Army manoeuvres. As she approached a bridge a sentry stopped her.

"Sorry, madam," he said, "you can't cross this bridge. It's just been destroyed."

The old lady peered at it through her spectacles.

"It looks alright to me," she murmured. Then, as another soldier approached, she asked, "Excuse me, but can you tell me what's wrong with this bridge?"

The soldier shook his head. "Don't ask me, lady," he replied; "I've been dead two days."

From Around
And About

— By D. A. F. —

Since there were no violent protests against last week's effort, here we go again with a few items "From Around and About".

FROM ENGLAND comes the news that the Dean of Salisbury has made this innovation in his Cathedral. He has placed a gramophone in the north of the transept in order to provide good music for Servicemen and women one or two afternoons a week. He tends the records himself.

AN EPISCOPAL clergyman in the States contributes the following humorous episode:—One afternoon he was preaching at Port Deposit, Md. He noticed a white mare picketed directly outside the open door. "The minute I announced the text," he says, "her ears pricked up and she stood at attention, looking me full in the face, with every appearance of concentrated listening until the sermon was finished." We might say that this man really has something. If he can hold a horse spellbound, he might tell the rest of the persons how he does it.

FROM RUSSIA we learn that Religious Education may now be carried on in the Soviet Union. The only rule on this matter is that religious instruction must not violate the basic principle of separation of Church and state. Under Russian law, each person may or may not teach his children religion. However, religion may not be taught in the schools. Another interesting fact from Russia is that there are no chaplains in the Russian army, but any soldier may attend religious services without restriction at Churches in the neighbourhood where he is stationed.

IN ENGLAND it has been proposed by a number of prominent Britons that a number of London's bombed churches be preserved in their ruined state as war memorials. It was pointed out that some of the War Memorials of World War I were unworthy of the men whose sacrifice they commemorated. The opinion as suggested was that the ruined churches would be a most appropriate memorial to the nation's crisis. Going on this basis, what would you suggest as a memorial to Canada's fallen?

EACH MORNING, says C. S. Lewis, famous English author, your wishes and hopes for the day "rush at you like wild animals". The first thing to do is push them all back — listening to that other voice, letting that other stronger, quieter life come flowing in. That is the Christian way of life. In quietness and confidence shall be your strength."

of Leadership

The office of twenty-five years as leader of the Liberal Party of Canada is unique in Canadian history.

This honor is enjoyed by Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King and the occasion was fittingly celebrated in Toronto Tuesday, August 8th, at a Banquet given in his honor. Despite the criticism of political opponents Premier King has earned through his cautious and astute Leadership the respect of public men in responsible positions in Canada, United States and Britain.

In the Conference of Empire Premiers, held in London earlier in the year, Premier Mackenzie King was chosen to give the Address of Empire to this notable gathering. His splendid address on this occasion was received with highest acclaim from far and near and gained for himself and Canada a still more honored place in the Commonwealth of the British Empire.

NEWS FROM O'SEAS

GNR. GEORGE FREEMAN WRITES

Belgium, Sept. 9th, 1944.

Dear Mom and Dad:

Well, as you will see, we have left France far behind in the big push. This is really a lovely country and I've never seen such a clean place before. Every street and house is spotless and has no comparison to the dirty villages of France.

What a welcome we are being given! It reminds one of the Calgary Stampede parade with hundreds and hundreds of people lining the roads everywhere and cheering themselves hoarse. They throw everything to us, kisses, apples, pears, tomatoes, beer and wine. My gosh they're happy to see us. It certainly makes one feel like a king. Everyone wants their children kissed and the V for Victory sign has certainly gone over big. Civilians tell us that the Germans have no vehicles at all due to a petrol shortage and are trying to escape on horses they have stolen in France.

At present we are in a Belgian farmyard. They wanted us to move into their house with them but we told them that we worked all night and would keep them awake. One lady, who could speak a little English said, "We have waited so long for you and now you are here, nothing is too good for you." They certainly did mean it because it's still morning and they have already given us milk, eggs tomatoes pears, apples, grapes and honey. We try to refuse but they're insulted if we turn them down so we turn the compliment with soap, chocolate and cigarettes. She took me into her vineyard this morning and was clipping luscious clusters of grapes for me and some to give to the other fellows. I believe she'd still be clipping if I had not insisted that I had enough.

I don't believe I've ever felt more as if I'd achieved something than I have these last few days after seeing so many truly happy faces. It's certainly a wonderful sight!

I received a letter from Harold a couple of days ago. He's now a Sgt. Well, that seems to be all for now, so I'll close.

Cheerio and Love,
George.

NIGHTINGALE

—By Mrs. F. H.—

Mr. Fitz Henry of Illinois is here looking after his farming interests.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mercer have as a guest Mrs. Mercer's sister-in-law
 Mrs. Fokt of Carmanagay.

Mrs. Geo. Thurston spent a few days in Calgary recently.

The Women's Institute held their regular meeting at the Hall last Friday. The roll call was naming your favorite hobby. Plans for a dance were discussed and left to a committee to arrange. Mrs. Art Kimmert reported filling three more ditty bags for the Navy League. This makes ten bags filled during the year. Knitting and sewing were distributed. Mrs.
 Stoodley was hostess for the day and served a delicious tea. Next meeting will be at the hall Oct. 6th.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Curtis of Choteau Mont. were visitors at the Harriman home last week. Along with Mr. and Mrs. Harriman and Mrs.
 Julia Dragg of Rockyford they motored to Banff for the week-end.

Miss Kathleen Harriman arrived last Friday from Boundary Bay, B. C. for a short leave at home.

Mrs. A. Farr Sr. returned last week after a month's visit at the coast with her sister. She is much improved in health.

There are quite a few hunters out will be given live stock as there were

W. D. Albright—A Tribute

Throughout Western Canada,
 W. D. Albright is known as the author of "Timely Hints from the Beaveridge Station." In the Peace River Block, he is known as a pioneer, a good farmer, superintendent of the experimental station, a wonderful host and a wise counselor.

Few, if any, men in the Dominion Experimental Farms Branch have worked as hard as has Mr. Albright, and none has reaped a greater reward. The Beaveridge Station has grown out of Mr. Albright's homestead and its influence is apparent throughout "The Peace."

His interest in the discoveries of agricultural science has never flagged and he has devoted his life transforming these discoveries into more successful farm production and more attractive farm homes.

Few men become great, because greatness can only be born from the union of talents and hard work.

Mr. Albright has not "buried his talents." Farmers and professional agriculturists alike owe him a great debt.

As a result of hard work—perhaps too hard—Mr. Albright is obliged to rest for a period of three months. I, and his many other admiring readers, will readily forego
 the pleasure of reading "Timely Hints" for a time, provided we can look forward to an early reappearance. We all gladly join in wishing him many more years of good health and of service to Canadian agriculture.

Christian Science

"Unreality" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon at all Christian Science Churches on Sunday. The Golden Text is II Corinthians 4:18. One of the Scriptural citations is, "Thou wilt shew me the path of life; in thy presence is fulness of joy; at thy right hand there are pleasures for evermore" (Psalms 16:11). One of the correlative passages from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, is "Truth will at length compel us all to exchange the pleasures and pains of sense for the joys of Soul" (p. 399).

Quebec Conference

was accompanied by Prime Minister Mackenzie King and attended by Major General Pope, Military Secretary to the Canadian War Cabinet and Military staff officer to the Prime Minister, also Commander Thompson, Mr. Churchill's secretary and naval aide.

Due to the recent change in political parties in Quebec's provincial election, Mr. Duplessis assumed the honors and it was to be expected that relations both from a war and political attitude would be more or less estranged. However, the jovial nature of Mr. Churchill quickly manifested itself and the ice was soon broken. In bidding farewell to Mr. King, however Mr. Duplessis said, "I wish you, good health, but not good luck," at which both laughed.

When we mentioned the word busy we really meant it for there were more than 150 correspondents present, some 70 American, 50 Canadian and 30 foreign.

In a nutshell all the glorious news of the past year gives fair reason to believe that the present Quebec conference will be followed by similar splendid success in the far eastern theatre of war.

As We See Them—

A symbol of Britain, Mr. Churchill stands out as tough and brave in adversity, at all times wise and broad-minded but in place when assailed.

Mr. Roosevelt also a man inspired with courage and determination portrays his high qualities in his very person and has won his way into the hearts of the people of many nations.

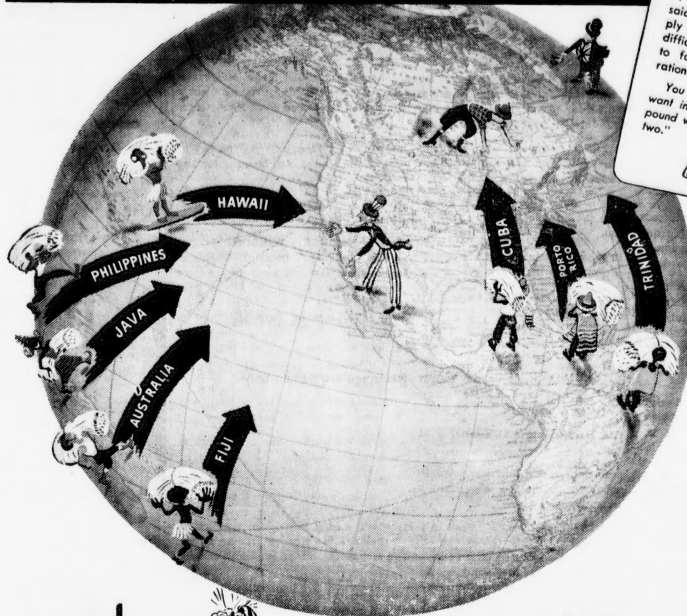

Together they form a splendid team and may God give them health and strength to continue their arduous and vitally important duties.

Press Conference—

These qualities were brought forcibly to mind in the press conference held Saturday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock, at the Citadel when after a long and tiresome wait, due to the honorary degree of D. D. L. being conferred upon Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt (the first occasion in the history of McGill University where convocation has even taken place outside the campus), the press were finally admitted. Needless to say, it was a mad scramble as to who had preferred positions, but the C. W. N. A. representatives were well to the front and had the honor of greeting the leaders of Great Britain, United States and Canada.

The first speaker, President Roosevelt, who spoke as follows. "We have made plans as far as any human being can possibly make plans today. Things are moving very rapidly and we have many thoughts on major operations. We are unable to state a specific date when the European war will end but the sooner the better. When this occurs army, navy and air

ABOUT THE THINGS YOU BUY IN WARTIME

"I think it can be safely said that the sugar supply position is the most difficult situation we have to face today in any rationed commodity. You can't get all you want in wartime. If one pound will do, don't buy two."

Churchill

The sugar situation is NOT sweet

FOUR-FIFTHS OF THE SUGAR CANADA CONSUMES HAS TO BE IMPORTED

This map shows where Canada, Great Britain and the United States got their sugar in the good old days of peace. Our three countries take practically all the exportable sugar from these major sugar-exporting areas.

But supplies have either been cut off by enemy occupation of the country—as in the case of Java and the Philippines, or their production radically reduced by shortage of workers, as in the case of Hawaii, Porto Rico, Australia, Trinidad, Fiji.

ROLLING ON SUGAR

The war has brought some unusual demands on the United Nations' sugar pool. Vast quantities have been taken for making industrial alcohol used in the manufacture of synthetic rubber (tires, etc.) as well as T.N.T. and smokeless powder. For instance, the explosive to fill five 16-inch shells requires as much sugar as is produced on an acre of the finest sugar land. This year Cuban sugar alone used for making industrial alcohol will equal Canada's normal sugar imports for more than two years.

DO WE NEED MORE SUGAR?

A century ago the whole world didn't consume as much sugar as Canada does today. Our sweet tooth has been acquired in quite recent times. Sugar rates high for its energy value, but starchy food is a good substitute.

THE SUPPLY IS SHARED

All sugar supplies are pooled and under the control of the Combined Food Board of the United Nations, which allots supplies to Canada, United States and Great Britain on a uniform basis.

WE'RE LIVING ON OUR SUGAR CAPITAL

At the time of "Pearl Harbour" the United Nations had a reserve stock-pile of about 3 million tons, but for the last 3 years we've been using more than has been produced—and dipping heavily into "reserve." Liberated nations will have to dip in too. Extra good crops could improve the situation, but greatly increased supplies are not in sight. If current consumption keeps up, we could be very short of sugar next year. We must do the utmost to conserve our supplies.

RATIONING WAS STARTED BECAUSE OF SHORTAGE OF SHIPS. IT MUST BE CONTINUED BECAUSE WORLD STOCKS ARE DEFICIENT

force will be unitedly used against Japan—a war of quick conclusion."

"It is not a question of one nation running the whole show, or naming a supreme command, it is a question of finding room and opportunity of marshalling our entire resources against Japan, the difficulty of which consists in bringing all opportunities of men and munitions together on land and sea—space being so small."

In closing his remarks, Mr. Roosevelt said, "We are glad to be here again, and we consider Quebec an ideal spot for a conference, with Prime Minister King and Governor General as our hosts."

Mr. Churchill then spoke for some minutes and sanctioned Mr. Roosevelt's remarks.

Referring to last year's gathering Mr. Churchill pointed out that the conference was not an idle and useless meeting, but from it came arrangements by which large armies hurled across the channel to liberate the beautiful land of France suffering under the heel of Hitler.

Continuing, he said, "While one part of our task is nearing completion, there is another which has to be undertaken in common—we have need to consider, when after the downfall of Nazi Europe the enormous forces can be applied as quickly as possible to the will of those they have outraged."

Do not fear about the future the same progress which has led us in the past will bring us through until the long strain of war is over."

"And so, gentlemen," he concluded,

"It has been a pleasure meeting with you, and probably at our next conference we will be enabled to unfold to you the plans which we have made on this occasion."

Prime Minister King, in a few remarks, thanked the speakers for their interview and extended a cordial invitation to the press group to attend a dinner at the Chateau that evening. So ended another vital and important conference of great leaders who both proclaimed it one of the best and shortest yet on record.
